

A Knowledge and Skills Practice Framework: integrating theory and practice in social work

Interventions - how we communicate indicates the use of knowledge, skills and values in action, with the rapport and relationships that we create being the medium through which effective assessment, analysis, decision-making and action flows.